

Topic 155	When famous people such as actors, athletes and rock stars give their opinions, many people listen. Do you think we should pay attention to these opinions? Use specific reasons and examples to support your answer.
------------------	---

1. Brainstorming
Agree: experienced a lot of failures, knowhows challenge spirit, endeavor, strong will everyone has different stories to tell (variety)
2. Outlining
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Introduction <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - TV programs : people are entitled to narrate life stories - successful celebrities are given chances - Opinion : should listen to them ● Body <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. professionals in survival <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - survivors of competition : special methods, knowhows - a lot of failures, deal with plights 2. important mental attitudes <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - job doesn't matter - challenge spirit, endeavor 3. variety of stories <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - each lived different life - people find their role model ● Conclusion <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - tend to think they have nothing to do with the advice - get inspirations

3. Essay Writing

TV shows such as 'Ted Talk', or '15 minutes to change the world' are one of few programs in the world in which people are entitled to narrate their dramatic life stories. In particular, successful celebrities including athletes, actors, and even rock stars are given opportunities to inspire the audience. These people don't really seem to be professionals in giving advice, though, it's my assertion that some part of their recommendations may be useful and valuable for people. Discussions below reveal reasons and evidences for the opinion.

First and foremost, those qualified to speak in front of the audience are professionals in surviving from the modern society. Successful celebrities experienced same initial periods as the other people. While they adapt to the society and try to

4. Speaking