Reading the headline of news, people will hear a lot of successful entertainments or athletes approaching to the field of the real estate; they vary from those buying small commercial buildings to those challenging to buy one of the most expensive commodities. In reality, all of these consumptions could be possible due to their tremendous wealth. In my opinion, they are qualified to receive such amount of money, owing to their patriotic activities, high amount of efforts, and scarcity.

First of all, numerous participators in fields of entertainments or sports highly contribute to an increase of their countries' reputation. For instance, soccer players of national teams yielding their honor of victory to their country can be easily witnessed in World Cup matches. Countries possessing gold medalists of Olympics are being spread their existence among people all around the world. Not only do athletes acquire fame and popularity for their countries, though, but also the actresses and entertainers play essential roles to this. 'K-Drama', dramas made from Korea which the people even in the overseas watch them, would be a good example of the roles of actresses.

Second of all, people must consider carefully and profoundly about the amount of endeavor that the celebrities have spent in, in order to accomplish their dreams. A number of people are inclined to consider that it's not a big deal to be successful as athletes or entertainers, ignoring all of the efforts that the celebrities have paid to their future jobs. However, this is easily discovered not true. A famous soccer player in Korea, named 'Park Ji Sung', is known to have practiced playing soccer for over ten thousand hours in total throughout his life.

Last of all, there are several exclusive skills which are only possible for athletes and entertainers. In such standard, people all over the world can be classified in two types : those who perfected prerequisites of one of such jobs, those seeking for other jobs such as doctor, janitor, office worker, etc. The former group, as mentioned before, possess skills to show splendid moments, spread smiles and laughter to the audience. In contrast, the latter group isn't even possible to imitate them. In fact, the number of such celebrities are almost nothing compared to the number of the rest people in the world. Scarcity of the job makes their activities more valuable.

In summary, high amounts of salary is a proper amount of compensation for patriotism, prolonged efforts, and exclusiveness of the job to celebrities encompassing athletes and entertainers. If a person is ready for encountering difficulties while propelling his dream, I believe that it is not a bad choice to challenge for such jobs, as they are one of the most promising ones nowadays.

In my opinion, celebrities including athletes and entertainers are qualified to receive high amount of salary.

First of all, their activities play essential roles to the improvement of their countries' reputation. For athletes, being a gold medal champion in Olympic games would be, and for entertainers, participating in taking one of the most enjoyable scenes would be.

Second of all, they possess exclusive expertise that only a handful of people can embody in. Both athletes and entertainers can attract the audience easily and noticeably. In contrast, mundane jobs such as a doctor, a laborer, and an office worker can't, which account for a majority of the society.
