It has only been few decades since raising pets started to increase in popularity between people. Nowadays, more and more people are trying to adopt pets because they just want to make good memories and reminiscences with their pets. While these pets include dogs, cats, hamsters, or even rare types of animals, I believe that dogs are the most essential animal in my country.

First of all, a lot of people in my country live alone. These people include elderly who don't have much chance to meet their families, or unmarried individuals. Since they have nobody to talk with at home, they feel loneliness and vacantness. However, existence of dogs can recover their emotions. Dogs are faithful and loyal enough for people to consider their dogs as their friends and talk with them.

Second of all, there are a number of industries and businesses involving dogs. Profits from animal related commodities account for significant part of the economy. As dogs are one of the most popular pets in Korea, there are also a lot of consumptions of dog related goods and services. In addition, a TV show called 'Animal Farm' is gaining success with more than 1000 videos. In fact, dog is the animal with the most rate of appearance in the show.

Lastly, dogs have played important roles in rural areas. For example, some shepherds still utilize dogs in order to lead the enormous herds of sheep. Furthermore, dogs can work as a guard of a house. In Korean towns, dogs mostly habit at the entrance of the house. Although they are mostly tied with chains, they can still bark loudly when any strangers seem to approach the house.

In conclusion, dogs are the most important animals in my country due to their roles in people's emotions, industry, and rural areas. Unlike the wild dogs, though, domestic dogs get some limitations at their actions or movements. Therefore, it's our job to take care of them as much as possible in order to ensure a good quality of dog life.
